

U.S. Army Materiel Command

Eye On AMC

Wednesday, December 10, 2025

Lawrence pins on third star

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. – Pinning on his third-star, Lt. Gen. Gavin Lawrence assumed duties as deputy commanding general of U.S. Army Materiel Command and senior commander of Redstone Arsenal, Dec. 5. Lawrence most recently served as the AMC's deputy chief of staff for operations and logistics, G-3. Since graduation, Lawrence said his 30-year career has been influenced by countless leaders, mentors, peers, the Soldiers he's lead and his family. In his new role, he will also serve as senior commander for Redstone Arsenal.

Advanced Manufacturing Summit unleashes new strategies

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. – The U.S. Army faces significant threats that will hamper its ability to support Soldiers from the strategic homeland. The U.S. Army Materiel Command has implemented several strategies to tackle obsolescence issues that the military's supply chain continues to experience. Leaders from across the Army gathered Dec. 3-4 to discuss how advanced manufacturing can address and resolve supply chain issues. The summit brought together leadership from AMC, the Department of War and other leaders from the Army.

Black Jack DFAC transforming to campus-style dining

FORT HOOD, Texas – Black Jack Dining Facility has closed for renovations as the facility is transformed to meet the Army's initiative toward campus-style dining. Once the transformation is complete, Black Jack will be the first dining facility at Fort Hood to offer the contractor-operated campus-style dining concept, as well as one of the first in the Army. Fort Hood is one of five Army posts selected for the pilot program that will offer college-campus style dining venues with extended hours and different food options.

Support to Language Labs increases efficiency for Tobyhanna

TOBYHANNA, Pa. – It is no secret that the battlefield is changing at a rapid pace. And after more than seven decades of service as a leading readiness provider, Tobyhanna Army Depot continues to evolve to equip a ready, modern and prepared generation of our nation's warfighters with the tools they need to succeed. Despite the ever-evolving nature of combat, some things remain fundamental to mission success. One such example is crisp, clear communication.

Black Hawk arrives ahead of schedule, deepening partnership

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa. – The first of 12 UH-60M Black Hawk helicopters arrived in Brazil Nov. 20, a month ahead of schedule, as the South American nation continues to modernize its aging helicopter fleet. The new Black Hawks are being provided through a Foreign Military Sales case with U.S. Army Security Assistance Command and will replace S-70A Black Hawks and AS532 Cougars that have been in service for more than 20 years. The case was crucial for Brazilian Army Aviation to enhance their capabilities and avoid a loss of combat power.