Total Army Sponsorship Program (TASP) Training

By Connie Silk,
ACS Relocation Program Manager

The purpose of the Total Army Sponsorship Program (TASP) is to provide a service member or Department of the Army civilian with a point of contact at their gaining installation; assisting them from pre-arrival to settling into their new unit and community.

Sponsorship is important as it helps to ease transition, facilitate colleague relationships and can even reduce culture shock from overseas moves or as a newcomer to the Army Family.

Being connected to the available resources is invaluable during a permanent change of station (PCS) move. Without this access to information and assistance, the implications (especially financially) of making an uninformed decision can have a lasting negative impact.

ACS Relocation Readiness supports the TASP by providing service members with a number of Sponsorship training opportunities along with assisting them with their Sponsorship duties:

As well as briefings to all Newcomers at Kalsu Replacement Company, we offer classroom Unit Sponsorship Training upon request and Unit Sponsorship Coordinator (USC) training which is a Unit TASP Coordinator's opportunity to train a number of sponsors at once to support effectively matching incoming service members and their Families using the tool in Army Career Tracker (ACT).

This enables Sponsors to relate with rank, experience level and Family circumstances and therefore, pre-empt required information and questions.

With an added emphasis being placed on the importance of Sponsorship and the mandatory requirements being put in place to ensure that Sponsors are assigned, this is the chance to take advantage of the training available through the ACS Relocation Readiness Program!

To arrange Unit Sponsorship Training or sign-up for the March and September Unit Sponsorship (USC) training, contact ACS Relocation at ftcampbellacsrelocation@gmail.com or call to speak to a Relocation Specialist at 270.798.6313/0513 or 270.956.2676, Monday-Friday, 7:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Volunteer of the Year Award Ceremony

Article submitted by Kim Hooks,
ACS Community Services
Program Manager

Annually, Fort Campbell recognizes volunteers at the Installation Volunteer of the Year Ceremony. Each Battalion and Agency on the installation has the opportunity to nominate a Fort Campbell Volunteer in one of five categories.

Youth Volunteers are recognized

This year the application process has been extended. The March 1, 2019 nomination application submission deadline has changed to March 13, 2019.

This is great news! You still have time to submit an application to have your volunteer recognized and appreciated for his/her service! So, you are not too late! Get their packet in! Recognize and show your volunteer how much you appreciate and value his/her service!

The five categories being recognized and receiving awards: Child and Youth Services, Community Services, Other Agencies, Family Readiness Groups and Youth.

Each nominee receives a Certificate of Appreciation from Command

Each of the nominee packets are given to 5 judges to review and score on factors of impact, leadership displayed, overall performance and number of hours volunteered in that calendar year. The winners of each category are announced at the event.

Each of the nominees are given a ticket to attend the event and be recognized for his/her contributions. The night ends with one nominee from each category selected as a winner in that category and is presented with an award by the Commanding General of the 101st Airborne Division.
