

MILITARY CHILDREN AND YOUTH Standing Strong & Proud

APRIL 2022 MONTH OF THE MILITARY CHILD PROCLAMATION

The Month of the Military Child is a time to recognize Military children and Families for the many sacrifices they make and the challenges they overcome. This annual celebration is a legacy of former Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger established in April 1986 to underscore the important role children and youth play in the Armed Forces community.

As our Nation continues to face the worldwide pandemic, Military Children and Youth, remain a resilient force, adjusting to school closings, navigating online instruction and responding to many uncertainties. They have remained strong and proud while adjusting to a new normal within a changing world.

We recognize, honor and celebrate the many sacrifices and the vital role they play in support of their Military parents, community, and our nation.

The 2022 Month of The Military Child (MOMC) theme is a testament to who they are “Military Children and Youth: Standing Strong and Proud”

Join us as we celebrate all Military Children and Youth.
